

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In order to simultaneously and effectively display main information and advertisement information, there is provided an information display device including an information receiver receiving information having at least first and second information, an information controller extracting the first and second information from the information received, a first-information display unit displaying the first information extracted, and a second-information display unit displaying the second information extracted.